To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter to recommend Lloyd Alba, who served as a Platform Engineering Intern at Arrive Logistics during the summer of 2023. Lloyd consistently demonstrated exceptional qualities that made him an excellent contributor to our organization during his tenure.

I was impressed with Lloyd's professionalism and proactive communication. He consistently demonstrated a level of communication skills that was consistent with a more senior employee. Lloyd was an effective contributor to project meetings, and often took a leading role in driving the project forward.

One of Lloyd's most valuable qualities is his ability to learn new technologies quickly. Working on our team requires a breadth of knowledge that is well beyond the expectations for most interns, but Lloyd was able to learn and adapt quickly in order to effectively understand the problem domain and drive solutions.

A particularly commendable aspect of Lloyd's internship was his dedication to mentoring his project partner, who was also an intern. His approachability, patience, and willingness to share his knowledge significantly enhanced his peer's learning experience and project contributions.

Lloyd is a fantastic candidate for any technical role. His combination of drive, quick learning, and effective collaboration makes him an asset to any organization who would hire him. The work he has done at Arrive has already made an impact on our organization's ability to innovate quickly, and has created a strong foundation for us to continue to build on.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information or insights regarding Lloyd's performance during his internship.

Sincerely,

Adam Croissant
